

HOW CAN FOOD I DONATE GET TO PEOPLE IN THE GULF?

By Deb Dormitzer,
First Parish, Concord, MA

You drop off your donation at your school or church.

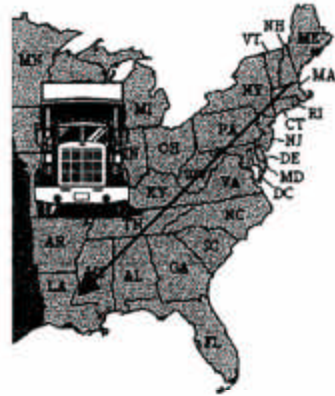

Food is brought to The Greater Boston Food Bank in Boston.

They load food onto trucks.

The trucks drive down South to towns in the Gulf Region.

The trucks bring the food to a food bank in the South. This is a big warehouse that stores the food.

The food bank gets food to a place that feeds hungry people, such as a food pantry.

Food Pantry

Once the food is delivered to a food pantry, people who are hungry can get that food for free.
